Lt. Governor Diane Denish Applauds the Alliance to Save Energy's "Six Degrees of Energy-Efficiency" Campaign

(Santa Fe, NM) – Lt. Governor Diane Denish today issued a statement applauding the Alliance to Save Energy and its "Six Degrees of Energy Efficiency" campaign for its energy-efficient makeover of a 60-year-old Albuquerque home owned by Alejandro and Teresa Porath.

"The Porath home makeover is a stunning example of how much energy can be conserved through simple upgrades such as energy-efficient windows, weather stripping, fluorescent light bulbs and programmable thermostats," said Lt. Governor Denish.

"All New Mexico families should have the opportunity to stay warm in the winter and cool in the summer, and we're working hard in the Legislature to support bills such as the Energy Saver initiative that offer incentives for retrofitting homes with energy-efficient appliances and fixtures while ensuring that all new construction in the state incorporates energy-saving components," Denish continued.

As Chair of the Mortgage Finance Authority, Lt. Governor Denish has partnered with housing entities throughout the state not only to provide affordable housing to more New Mexico families, but also to ensure that the homes they move into are energy-efficient.

"I appreciate the efforts of the Alliance to Save Energy, the Central New Mexico Housing Corporation, the Home Builders Association of Central New Mexico, the New Mexico Mortgage Finance Authority and everyone that has worked hard to make the "Six Degrees of Energy-Efficiency Challenge" such an overwhelming success," said Denish. "And I congratulate the Porath family on these improvements to their home."
